

Botswana OEMAI Server NRZ

AI Overview

Botswana's OEMAI Server likely forms part of the Shared Digital Services infrastructure supporting cross-border rail operations with the National Railways of Zimbabwe (NRZ). Overview of Botswana-NRZ Rail Collaboration Botswana and Zimbabwe have formalized agreements to enhance rail connectivity, particularly for coal exports. Botswana Railways (BR) and NRZ signed a “Through Working Agreement” allowing locomotives and wagons to operate seamlessly across borders, from Francistown in Botswana to Bulawayo in Zimbabwe, bypassing previous handover delays at Plumtree. This agreement improves operational efficiency, reduces transit times, and supports the movement of commodities such as coal, grain, and petroleum products. Botswana also collaborates with Mozambique to export coal via the Ponta Techobanine and Maputo corridors, targeting up to 10 million tonnes annually. These agreements include refurbishment and maintenance of the 1,100 km railway connecting Botswana, Zimbabwe, and Mozambique, ensuring safe and efficient heavy freight operations.

Role of Digital Infrastructure Botswana's Department of Shared Digital Services manages critical IT infrastructure that underpins rail operations. Key functions include:

- Network Management: Planning, monitoring, and optimizing LAN/WAN/SDWAN networks to ensure reliable communication across rail operations.
- Hosting and Database Services: Management of servers, databases, and application hosting, which could include the OEMAI Server, ensuring data integrity, backups, and performance for operational systems.
- Security Services: Cybersecurity, host and network security, and physical access control protect sensitive operational data and rail management systems.
- Operations Centre (NOC/SOC): Monitors incidents, manages service requests, and ensures continuity of IT services critical for rail logistics.

The OEMAI Server, while not explicitly detailed in public sources, is likely part of this infrastructure, supporting enterprise application...
