

Cable tray laying and conveying device

Overview

The cable conveyor—also known as a cable pusher—is a motorized mechanical device designed for cable laying operations. It is specifically engineered for the installation of long-distance, large-cross-section power cables. Cable trays, available in hot-dip galvanized, pre-galvanized, stainless steel (304-316), Corten-A, aluminum, and electrostatically powder-coated varieties, can be used in a wide range of environments, from building interiors to airports, ships, and refineries. Gersan also manufactures all kinds of. The Cable Conveyor is driven by electric motors, which transmit power to a set of rubber crawler tracks via a reduction gear mechanism. This guide breaks down the process step by step. Mark the cable tray route based on your electrical cable tray design and site. Cable conveyor is a kind of laying power cable (or communication cable) electric mechanical equipment, because this cable conveyor can be used in series to realize the large-scale, long-distance large cable delivery project. In the commercial and industrial construction, cable tray is widely used as an.
