

Compatible Anti-Calling Active Optical Cable UK Supplier

AI Overview

Top UK suppliers for compatible Active Optical Cables (AOCs) include FS.com UK, Wire Technologies (OM5), SFP Store, and Kenable, offering a wide range of lengths, connector types, and compliance standards. FS.com UK provides Active Optical Cables supporting data rates up to 100Gb/s with link distances up to 100 meters. Their AOCs are designed for high-performance computing and machine learning workloads, offering reduced weight, density, and power consumption. FS.com UK also provides enterprise-grade support and a resource center for technical guidance, making it suitable for professional ICT deployments (FS.com UK). Wire Technologies (OM5) offers Euroclass CPR B2ca approved AOCs, including 10G, 25G, 40G, 56G, and 100G options, as well as breakout cables like 40G QSFP+ to 4x 10G SFP+. They use laser-optimized OM4 multimode fibre with LSZH/LSOH jackets, making them compliant with stringent public sector installations such as hospitals, tunnels, and high-density buildings. Custom lengths are available upon request (OM5). SFP Store Based in Tewkesbury, Gloucestershire, SFP Store supplies MSA-compliant, fully compatible SFP transceivers, DACs, AOCs, and media converters. They offer next-day delivery from a UK warehouse, with British customer service support. Their product range includes fibre patch leads, MTP/MPO connectors, and high-speed networking cables suitable for enterprise and data center environments (SFP Store). Kenable provides a broad selection of networking cables, power solutions, and accessories, including industrial and high-performance cabling. While their focus is broader than just AOCs, they are a reliable UK supplier for networking infrastructure and related cabling needs (Kenable). Recommendations For high-speed, data center-grade AOCs, FS.com UK and Wire Technologies (OM5) are ideal...
