

Fiber Optic and Cable Testing Organization

AI Overview

Professional fiber optic cable testing agencies provide installation verification, certification, troubleshooting, and maintenance services using advanced equipment and certified technicians. Leading Fiber Optic Testing Agencies

1. Stafford Associates Stafford Associates offers fiber optic and Ethernet cabling testing and certification services across New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. Their certified technicians specialize in fusion splicing, pre-polished fiber termination, and anaerobic hand polish fiber termination. They handle both indoor and outdoor installations, including multi-building campuses and high-rise buildings, and provide troubleshooting solutions for existing networks.
2. Advanced Fiber Inc. (AFI) AFI provides nationwide fiber optic splicing and testing services. Their certified field technicians perform bi-directional loss readings, end-to-end trace readings, and OTDR testing. AFI emphasizes safety and compliance, with OSHA-certified training and in-field safety programs. They handle single fusion and ribbon splicing, ribbonizing loose tube cables, and closure installations.
3. DeMarc Telecom DeMarc Telecom specializes in OTDR testing, insertion loss measurements, and fiber certification. They use industry-leading equipment to detect breaks, measure splice loss, and ensure optimal signal transmission. Their services cater to corporations, municipalities, and utility networks in New England, ensuring compliance with industry standards.
4. Streamline Telecom Streamline Telecom provides fiber optic installation and testing services in New York City. Their BICSI-certified technicians are trained in mechanical and fusion splicing and use specialized Fluke Networks equipment for testing. They also advise on maintenance and preventative cleaning of fiber connectors to maintain network performance.
