

Lebanon High-Voltage Distribution Box

AI Overview

High voltage distribution boxes in Lebanon are available from multiple suppliers, offering robust enclosures, circuit protection, and energy management solutions suitable for residential, commercial, and industrial applications. Overview High voltage (HV) distribution boxes are essential for safely distributing electrical power from medium or high voltage sources to various circuits while protecting equipment and personnel. In Lebanon, these boxes are supplied by companies such as Legrand, ACM, MoElectric, and ELU Lebanon, offering a range of enclosures, panel boards, and switch boxes suitable for different environments. Key Features

Material and Protection: Boxes are made from aluminum, copper, or SMC (Sheet Molding Compound), providing mechanical strength, impact resistance, flame retardancy, and watertight protection (IP65/IP66) for outdoor or industrial use.

Circuit Protection: Equipped with modular, moulded case, or open-type circuit breakers ranging from 125 A to 6300 A, along with disconnect switches for safe isolation.

Energy Management: Some systems include intelligent control units, load shedders, and metering lines (EMDX3 or Eco meter) for monitoring and controlling energy usage locally or remotely via smartphones or tablets.

Customization: Enclosures and distribution boxes come in various sizes and configurations to suit residential, commercial, and industrial projects, including flush mount and surface mount options.

Suppliers and Availability

Legrand Lebanon: Offers a wide range of HV cabinets, switch boxes, and energy management systems suitable for medium voltage distribution.

ACM Lebanon: Provides nationwide delivery of electrical distribution boxes and panel boards for safe power distribution.

MoElectric: Specializes in plastic electrical boxes and waterproof enclosures for cable protection and electrical installations.

ELU Lebanon: Supplies SMC enclosure boxes with good mechanical and impact strength, flame retardancy, and watertight properties for industrial and com...
